

LAST RITES TO DEAD PRIEST

FATHER HALFTERMEYER PROVIDES FOR BENEFACTIONS

Young Wife of Town Passes Away, Other Deaths of the Week.

On consecrated ground back of the Mission Cross erected in the old burial ground of the Sacred Heart Church, better known as Conowago Chapel, the mortal remains of the Rev. Eugene Halftermeyer, late rector of the church, were interred at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday morning. The place of interment had been designated by the priest before his death, and this wish was carried out.

A more solemn and impressive ceremony was never witnessed within the walls of the historic chapel than that which preceded the burial of the beloved Father Halftermeyer. The edifice was filled to overflowing, and together with those who could not gain admission, at least one thousand persons attended the ceremonies.

Prelates, priests of the diocese, and visiting priests, 46 in number, were seated within the chancel rail and took part in the recital of the Divine Office, at 9:30 a. m.

Following the service a High Mass of Requiem was observed, with Rev. Dr. M. M. Hassett, of the Harrisburg Cathedral, as celebrant; Rev. J. G. McGovern of Mt. St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, deacon; Rev. D. J. Carey, of Lewisburg, sub-deacon; and Rev. J. J. Hollen and John L. Shields, Masters of Ceremonies.

The body of the dead priest, clad in vestments and mitre, with a chalice in hand, reposed in the casket before the chancel.

The sermon was preached by Rev. James A. Huber, rector of St. Joseph's Church, Hanover. When the speaker touched upon the strong tie which bound the dead priest to the people of the parish, there was not a dry eye among the concourse in the edifice. Even though Father Halftermeyer labored among them for only a few brief years, they had learned to love him both as man and confessor.

The absolution of the body was pronounced by Right Rev. John W. Shanahan, Bishop of the Harrisburg diocese after which the members of the parish were permitted to take a last look at the familiar face of their pastor.

Headed by the priests and acolytes, the body, borne by twelve members of the Conowago Beneficial Society, was carried to its last resting place, followed by the entire congregation, chanting psalms on the way to the open grave.

The body was consigned to the grave by Rev. Dr. Hassett.

The remains of Rev. Halftermeyer, who died in the Medi-Chi hospital in Philadelphia Friday, Oct. 1st, following an operation for appendicitis, were brought to the rectory at Conowago on Saturday night. Preceding the funeral the body was conveyed to the church edifice Monday evening by Rev. Frs. Reudter and Howard, of McSherrystown; Huber and League, of Hanover; Mahony of Midway, and Shields of Conowago, where it lay in state during the night under a guard from the Beneficial Society, until the hour of the funeral Tuesday morning.

Rev. Halftermeyer was the second secular priest of the Conowago parish, who succeeded the Jesuits at this famous chapel, the original monastery in America.

Rev. Halftermeyer was at Conowago but a short time until he had won the hearts of the members and children of the parish. His influence extended beyond the parish, for the priest made many friends in Hanover and McSherrystown, not alone among the followers of the Catholic faith, but among Protestants as well, by many of whom he was held in high esteem.

The will of Rev. Father Eugene Halftermeyer was admitted to probate last week by Register J. A. Applier. It names Rev. Maurice Hassett of Harrisburg, and Rev. J. D. Carey as executors and makes the following provisions among others:

TOWN FATHERS IN SESSION

HEAR ABOUT SEWERS—PAVEMENTS—OTHER MATTERS.

Order the Western Maryland Rail road to be Indicted for Crossing Nuisance.

Town Council held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening of last week, those present being Councilmen Butt and Armor of the first ward, Hamilton and Kitzmiller of the second ward and Tawney, Beck and Trostle of the third ward. President Hamilton called meeting to order and minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

J. R. Albin brought up the matter of steam escaping in the Tiber near his residence on N. Washington street. The steam would escape on cold mornings in a cloud and if window or door of his residence was open would be found in every part of the rooms doing damage to his house. In the discussion that followed it appeared that about five years ago the Gettysburg Transit Company was directed to get rid of escaping steam about their plant and found an old sewer pipe in the street and made use of it. The pipe ended at the run, and in blowing out the boiler often steam under 10 pounds pressure was blown through the pipe. Entrance to the town sanitary sewer had been refused on account of the injury that the steam under pressure might do and also backing the sewer gases through traps. Mr. T. P. Turner asked the Council to give him permission to go into the new sewer or other outlet and he would abate what was an apparent nuisance to Mr. Albin. The Council was unwilling to take any chances of the results to the new sewer and on motion it was agreed to buy enough terra cotta pipe to continue the sewer in which the Transit Co. now enters to a point below the Stacker Company's plant, in rear of the Albin residence, the Transit Company agreeing to do all the work of connecting the pipe. This motion carried by a vote of 5 to 2. Councilman Kitzmiller declaring he did not see why the borough should pay for the pipe. Councilman Butt explained that he supported motion because borough had placed the Transit Company where it was and it was right to help toward getting the outlet further away so as not to annoy citizens.

Henry Kalbfleisch appeared before Council and protested against the piking on Washington street stopping when it reached his place.

J. I. Mumper, E. P. Wisotzkey and Wm. Arch McLean, as the committee from the Retail Merchants' Association, appeared before the Council and last named explained that they had been appointed as a committee of an association of 67 business men of the place, asking the borough to put down concrete pavement in the Public Square at such points as fell upon the borough to maintain. Attention was called to the borough notifying citizens to make and repair pavements and at the same time maintaining pavements in the most central portion of the town which if owned by citizens the borough would compel the rebuilding. The question whether concrete pavement would injure the trees in the Square was advanced but the Council did not present any response whatever to the action of the Merchants' Association.

E. P. Wisotzkey, as chief of the Fire Company, reported that the engine needed new flues and water tubes. That it had been taken out for a test and tubes leaked so as to put out the fire. The Property Committee was to have the engine repaired at once, and was also directed to place a new fire hydrant at the Scott corner on Chambersburg street.

The Finance and Highway Committees had no report to make. Chairman Beck of the Light Committee reported that the work was about finished of erecting the arc and Tungsten lamps under the new lighting contract. He reported that citizens of Middle street desired a light midway between Baltimore and Washington streets, as that block is one of the longest in town and High street block has a midway light. Motion carried to place a Tungsten light midway on this block, and motion also carried to put light at corner of East Middle street and East Liberty street in the middle of the street so as to give light both ways as light is very poor at that point from a side bracket and obscured by the trees.

Councilman Butt reported an offer by Thad. Warren to put down a cement walk in front of the old pond property on West Middle street provided a cement foot bridge was put over the run. It is probable that the offer will be accepted at a later date but was deferred. Councilman Kitzmiller made a motion that the Secretary send Mrs. Braunreuter a notice to make her pavement on Steinwehr avenue. The subject of making pavements by the borough for citizens who refused to make came up for discussion and as there was some question whether previous action by the borough had been in strict legal shape, to enforce the pavement ordinance the matter was referred to Borough Attorney Wible for his opinion.

Councilman Butt called attention to the recent accident at railroad crossing on Stratton street and moved that proper legal steps be taken to indict the W. M. R. R. for maintaining a nuisance over Stratton, Carlisle, Washington, Buford, Springs avenue and West Middle streets and that the borough attorney be directed to take proper steps to have the information laid. The motion carried unanimously.

A motion prevailed that the Burgess be notified not to give any more sewer permits unless the connections remain open until sewer inspector has inspected the same and authorized the closing.

A motion carried to give the Civic Club the annual contribution of $10 for street sprinkling.

Dr. H. W. McKnight and Geo. E. Stock appeared before Council in the matter of the grade of pavements in front of their properties on Baltimore street, and matter was referred to the Highway Committee and Borough surveyor to adjust.

It was decided to amend the pavement ordinance so that the fall of a cement pavement shall be one-fifth of an inch to the foot instead of two-fifths as at present.

Professional Chicken Thief.

One Seyford or Sanford is at large and is wanted for wholesale chicken stealing in this county and for horse stealing in this and Dauphin county. He visited Mountpleasant township last Friday night and had a close shave from being caught and abandoning a wagon loaded with chickens the following night helped himself to a horse of a farmer. Now the whole country round about are on the lookout for the man.

Mountpleasant township farmers have been losing chickens by the dozens, one farmer had one hundred stolen. Farm produce was also taken. Farmers have been on the watch for the thief for some time. On last Friday night in the early morning he passed the residence of E. P. Spouseller and the latter's son, E. J. Spouseller, being wakened went to the window and distinguished wagon on the road and heard the squeak of chickens. He dressed and mounting a horse followed the wagon. Allen Straley, working on the Spouseller farm also followed after. They followed the team beyond Two Taverns and when the man discovered he was followed he jumped from the team and made for a thicket. Messrs. Spouseller and Straley took possession of team and held it until turned over to Squire Harry Snyder who handed them over to Chas. F. Wilson.

The team contained a complete outfit for professional chicken theft. The horse had been shod with rubber shoes and on the wagon were four chicken coops filled it is said with the finest lot of chickens that one would want to see. A bag of chickens were found in a stupor, the thief first filling the bag which was sprayed with chemicals to make the chickens stupid and keep them from making a noise. Afterwards they were put in the coops. The chickens is it is said were disposed of by Sanford in Gettysburg and Hanover.

An officer arrived from Harrisburg on Monday looking for Sanford, being wanted on the charge of horse stealing and claiming that the team in possession of Mr. Wilson had been stolen in Harrisburg.

On Saturday night the barn of Edward J. Kuhn not very far from the point where the team was abandoned, was entered and horse stolen, as it is supposed by this man Sanford. The loss was at once made known to Sheriff Flessel and he has telephoned to all nearby towns to be on the watch for the thief, who is described as being about 45 years old, 5 feet 9 inches high, has a sandy mustache mixed with gray and was wearing a light suit and light slouch hat.

MT. JOY LUTHERAN CHURCH

IS THE LOCATION OF AN INTERESTING S. S. CONVENTION.

Rev. J. A. Clutz, D. D., Makes Address on the Ideal S. S. Superintendent—Other Addresses.

A Sunday School Convention of the Third District of Adams County, Pa., was held at Mt. Joy Lutheran church, near Barlow, on Sunday afternoon and evening, Oct. 10, 1909. Convention opened by singing "He Hideth My Soul," "I'll Live for Him" and "Blessed Assurance." A portion of Paul's second epistle to Titus was read as a scripture lesson followed by prayer by Rev. Stockslager, pastor of the Mt. Joy church.

The President of the district, Mervin Wintode, then took charge of the program and introduced the first speaker, Rev. J. A. Clutz, D. D., of Gettysburg, who spoke on "The Ideal Sunday School Superintendent." He said in part: Ideals are supposed to be higher than the real. It is not wise to put our ideals too high but should always keep them a little in advance of the real. First my Ideal Superintendent is a man. He must be an earnest, sincere, Christian man. He should be clean of hand and foot. All his associations should be such as he would not be ashamed to have the boys and girls of his school accompany him in all his walks and talks of life. He ought not to take into his mouth anything that will defile, such as strong drinks of various names. He ought never to be seen smoking a cigar, cigarette or a stinking old pipe. This may seem radical to some but any of the above named habits are unbecoming and unfit for my Ideal Superintendent. The young men and boys are always watching the actions of the Superintendent and therefore he should be an earnest and fervent Christian, be clean of hand and foot. His religion ought to be of the cheerful kind, and not long faced sanctimonious, as many old folks entertain the idea of a Superintendent. He should be able to crack a good innocent joke at the proper time. He ought to be in sympathy with the young people and ought to feel young himself. He ought to be a man with a good deal of executive ability. He ought to be able to classify his school and have the proper teacher for each class. He must have tact, firmness and a determination to exercise authority as the occasion demands. He ought to be prompt and punctual and should have every teacher of his school in the school room five or ten minutes before the time of opening. Be prompt all the way through, keep things going. Always remember the true aim. "That the young people may be led to God and trained to do God's work."

Singing, "What a friend we have in Jesus," "Sunday school workers and who constitute the same," was discussed by various delegates and members of the convention. "Music," "When I survey the wondrous cross," by the Gettysburg College Quartette composed of D. E. Weigle, Rodney Smith, C. H. Stein and Howard A. Stauffer. Offering amounting to $9.34. "Concentration" was orally discussed by Rev. J. J. Hill, of Littlestown. Get the attention of the school and help to take part in the exercises as they go along remembering always, "This one thing I do." There must be some attraction but be careful that it will not lead to distraction. After concluding above talk on Concentration with several vivid illustrations, the Rev. Hill who is also President of the Adams County Sabbath School Association gave outlines and suggestions by which the officers of the district may aid and assist the county workers. In the first place send the best persons of your schools to the county conventions so as to be able to give and get more information along the successful lines of Sunday school work. The best talent of the world is engaged in Sunday school work. Every school in the county should send reports to both district and county officers, and also always send delegates to every district and county convention. Singing, "Jesus is Passing this Way."

"The Ideal Sunday School Class" was the theme of the Rev. Wm. E. Wheeler's remarks. The ideal teacher is one who realizes the responsibility of the position he holds, to which he is called, to which he is appointed. The office of the teacher in the Sunday school ranks very close to the work of the pastor of the church. The ideal scholar is one who appreciates such an ideal teacher and co-operates. The ideal teacher and scholar constitute my ideal class. Music, "There's a Beautiful Country" by the College Quartette. Benediction by Dr. Clutz.

Evening session opened at 7:30 p. m. Singing, "Bringing in the Sheaves," "Pilot of Galilee" and "Jesus will Help You." Psalms, the one hundred and eleventh chapter was read and prayer by Rev. F. S. Lindaman. Music, "The Shadows of the Evening Hour" by the College Quartette. Music, "Beautiful Light" by the audience. "Methods of Bible Study" was very fully discussed by Howard Stauffer, a student of Gettysburg Seminary, saying: Get children acquainted with Bible stories such as Ruth, Samuel, Saul, David, Rebecca and others. Why should we study the Bible? Because it is the only ideal book. It is the book of all books. It is the right guide to follow. It is pure and shines with heavenly radiance. It is more desirable than gold and silver, and lastly, it endures forever. He recommended a certain period of time each day, not less than 20 minutes, preferably before breakfast, to be devoted to Bible study. If this time is not convenient use what suits your case best. A certain place for Bible study. He also recommended the use of note books in connection with Bible study. Every reader should have his or her own place. Different plans as follows: By chapters, by subjects or by books. Above all study the Bible devotedly and prayerfully that ye may apply your hearts unto wisdom.

Further remarks on the subject of Bible study were made by Rev. F. S. Lindaman. The Bible is an all important book. It is the only book that will give comfort and consolation to the dying man or woman. Be thorough in your plans of Bible study. One or two verses carefully and prayerfully studied will amount to more than the reading of whole chapters in a careless way.

Singing, "My Mother's Bible", by the audience; Remarks by the District President, Mervin Wintode; Music, selection, by the choir; An offering amounting to $6.58 was lifted; Music, "Savior Comfort Me," by College Quartette.

Prof. Chas. F. Sanders did not beat around the bush but spoke very plainly and conscientiously on "Formers and Reformers." After hearing the above address I think Sunday school workers will find it much easier to be formers than reformers. Character like the body is a thing of growth. What we have learned at this convention will amount to very little unless we make a resolution to apply the truths learned this day and proceed to put same into effect as soon as we get back to our respective schools. Every one must give an account of himself to God for deeds done while here in the body and do not forget the neglected opportunities will be charged up against you. No man liveth or dieth unto himself. Every day we live we are helping to make somebody else better or worse, whether we are willing to admit it or not. The boys and girls will turn out to be just what the church and community are teaching them by precept and example. Win them by love. It is not the will of the Lord that any shall perish for he says, "Whosoever will may come and take of the water of life freely without money and without price." But many are lost because some Sunday school workers and church members are not discharging their duties with fidelity. Some Sunday school workers aim at nothing and hit the bulls eye every time. Children learn more from what they see than what they hear. Be frank and square and act as you speak. The true soldier of the cross will press onward and upward toward the mark of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked, whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. Remarks by Rev. Stockslager. Song, College Quartette.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the College Quartette and Choir for their excellent singing, the speakers for the well prepared and inspiring addresses, the trustees of Mt. Joy for the use of the building and all others who helped to make this one of the best conventions held in the district. Closing remarks by the President Mr. Wintode. "God be with You till We meet again" by the audience. Benediction by Rev. F. S. Lindaman.

Thirteen schools in the 3rd district were represented as follows: J. Elmer Spangler and Clara H. Shoemaker of St. Pauls, Harney, Md.; J. M. Strevig and Miss Ella Mehrling, St. Paul's, Littlestown; S. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Orr, of Harrisburg, were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McDaniel.

Mrs. Annie Lerew and her daughter Elsie, of Gettysburg, are visiting with Mrs. Augustus Lerew in this place.

Picking and packing apples for shipment is a busy time with our apple growers here.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lynn and son Guy, and Mr. and Mrs. Moyer and daughter, of Harrisburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with Wm. H. Stauffer and family.

Harry M. Keller, near this place, had the misfortune to have his best horse get a leg broke from the kick of another horse. He has the horse in a swing and is trying to save it.

Aaron I. Weidner, of this place, who has been confined to his house all summer suffering from a severe fall he got in the barn last spring, we are pleased to see is able to be out and about again.

The Royal Month and the Royal Disease.

Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its bunches, cutaneous eruptions, and wasting of the bodily substance—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one, in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative—consumption.

VALLEY PERSONALS.

BUCHANAN VALLEY, Oct. 8.—John Shepard, of Bendersville, was the guest of his brothers recently.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kimple spent the week's end at Theodore Kimple's, Mr. Kimple's father.

Mrs. John F. Cole and sister, Mrs. John Stover, spent several days last week with relatives and friends at Gettysburg and near Bouneauville.

The Misses Carbaugh, of Greenwood, visited at Samuel Baker's home on Sunday of last week.

Miss Margaret Shepard is again at home, having returned from Buffalo, N. Y., and Washington, D. C.

Miss Mary Shepard, of Bendersville, is visiting her uncles, James and Geo. Shepard.

A Threatening Comet.

M. Camille Flammarion, the great scientist, after many years of study, arrived at the conclusion that the world will in the twenty-fifth century come across the path of the comet Bella. On this occasion a collision will take place, and Bella being infinitely greater than the earth, a shock may be expected which, he calculates, will be 865 times greater than the shock caused by the collision between two trains, each traveling at sixty-five miles an hour.

Loving Letters.

Never burn kindly written letters. It is so pleasant to read them over when the ink is brown, the paper yellow with age and the hands that traced the friendly words are folded over the hearts that prompted them. Keep all loving letters. Burn only the harsh ones and in burning forgive and forget them.

More Than Pleased.

"Did Miss Flavilla seem pleased when you asked her to go to the theater?" "Pleased! She wanted to keep the tickets for fear something might happen to me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

ONLY ONE.

The Record in Gettysburg is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ill and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently. Gettysburg citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Mrs. Elizabeth Beidler, 1 Steuwehr Ave., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I suffered from kidney and bladder trouble for some time and used a great many remedies but did not succeed in finding relief. The kidney secretions were very irregular in passage, causing me much annoyance and severe pains often darted through my body. My health was in a run down condition when I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and I decided to try them. I procured a box at the People's Drug Store and they gave me prompt relief. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

Governors of Pennsylvania

JOHN WHITE GEARY—1867-1873.

Governor Geary served a term as governor of Kansas and refused the governorship of Utah before he was elected to the governorship of Pennsylvania. He was born in 1819 in Westmoreland county and prepared himself for the profession of civil engineering. He served as lieutenant colonel and colonel in the Mexican war. In 1849 he was appointed postmaster of San Francisco and mail agent for the Pacific coast. Later he was elected first alcalde of the city, an office combining the duties of sheriff, judge of probate, recorder, notary public and coroner. In 1850 Mr. Geary was elected mayor of San Francisco. He was made governor of Kansas in 1856. When the civil war broke out, having returned to Pennsylvania, he raised a regiment and was commissioned colonel. In 1862 he was promoted to brigadier general. Almost immediately after he was mustered out he was elected governor of Pennsylvania and was re-elected.

Jen of Culver's Jump

By ROBERT GILBERT WELSH

(Copyright, by J. B. Lippincott Co.)

Smoky Sant had been drinking that afternoon, and was, consequently, in an unusually jovial mood. Just beyond Culver's Jump, as his big Mogul engine came puffing up the steep grade toward the mountain summit, the loaded cars of coke clanking behind it, he leaned out of the cab and waved a salute to the sunbonneted figure beside the track. She might have been old and ugly—it was nothing more than the glow imparted by the whisky which prompted the greeting; but when the sunbonnet fell back and a pair of brown eyes laughed up at him, while two pretty hands held out a can of buttermilk, inviting him in coquetish pantomime to drink, a deeper emotion impelled him to stop his engine. He leaped down and stepped back to the girl, half expecting to see her run. She stood her ground.

"Thirsty?" she asked. "This here's nothin' but buttermilk."

He took a long gulp from the dripping dipper she held out to him.

"It's mighty good," he said as he wiped his mouth with the back of his hand, "but I didn't stop my train for buttermilk. I expected I'd git a passenger. Ever been up to the mine?"

She shook her head.

"Come ahead, it's a bully ride!"

She hung back.

"I got a lot o' things to do up home," she said.

"Got to cook yer old man's supper, eh?"

"Ain't got no old man—yet." And she laughed.

"Got somebody in mind?"

"Not you, anyway!"

"Oh, I ain't a candidate."

"Lost the nomination too often, I guess."

He laughed ruefully and was about to confess that he already had an "old woman" in New York when she broke in—

"Say, will you let me work the handles an' things? I want to make it go!"

"Sure! Come ahead!"

A moment later, having run the gauntlet of curious brakemen and Pete, the grinning fireman, she clambered into the cab of the Streak, and stood quivering with childlike excitement before the confusing multiplicity of valves and levers.

This was the first of many delightful rides for little Jen Barnes. Four times a day for six days in the week Smoky Sant passed Culver's Jump on his way to and from the mines, and two train-loads of coke were brought by him to the greedy mouths up there at the summit. Then followed the risky descent over a track which wound in and out, down the mountain side, and in the course of its 12 miles dropped 2,000 feet—a trip never dull, and now made even more exciting for Smoky Sant by the possibility that at one point of the road he would find Jen waiting for him.

Meanwhile the silence of Sant's "old woman" in New York continued unbroken—a silence that had been responsible for Smoky Sant's tactlessness. She had been proud of her husband when she gave up teaching in the city school and started out in life with Sant, then a promising young engineer entrusted with the Big Flyer.

They were happy and prosperous when the baby came, and the proud father fairly worshiped the little chap who sat crowing on his shoulders.

In the course of an unusually rigorous winter Sant succumbed to the grip, and recovered from it a weakened man. It was then that he began to indulge in an occasional drink to brace his nerves. The habit had grown and presently he was found unrollable; then the company dismissed him from his post on the Big Flyer.

Slow to relinquish a man once so trustworthy, they tried him in less responsible positions. But Sant was now too discouraged to pull up, and gradually fell lower in the company's forces until he was finally dismissed. He fell into debt, the little house in the suburbs slipped away from him, and at last, to escape vagrancy, his wife went back to her mother, taking the boy with her. Their door was closed against Sant. He would have gone utterly to the dogs had not the Brotherhood of Engineers secured for him this position on the little mountain railroad, which required a certain desperation for its successful engineering. Sant had kept it several months without mishap, and the mining company was beginning to feel easier.

One morning, early in November, he found Jen waiting for him on his down-trip, looking like a picture in the clear, frosty air, and with a belated spray of golden-rod fastened at her belt.

They had not gone very far before his passion rose and claimed utterance. "Jen! Jen!" he cried. "Let's quit. Won't you clear out o' this with me!"

"Why—why—I—"

"Don't be afraid, little woman. You will never be sorry—I'll see to that. I'll stick by you an' work for you like a nigger. Is it all right?"

There was no doubt in her mind that he meant honorable marriage, and she looked up with shy but unmistakable acquiescence, and then put her head on his oily shoulder.

By degrees, however, it dawned up on her that all was not well with her mating. She disliked Sant's insistence upon the secrecy of their attachment. But this grew insignificant in the presence of a graver trouble. An elopement was what Sant began to plan. On her part, she longed for a local wedding with all the neighbors present and the circuit-rider on hand to perform the ceremony, which was to be followed by supper and a dance. For weeks she pleaded for this, the realization of many day-dreams, but Sant was firm in his refusal. By clumsy innuendoes he tried to point her to the true state of affairs; but his was an awkward mind with a limited range of expression, and hers was an honest little soul unschooled and unsuspecting.

It was a dreary November day when he picked Jen up on his way to the mines and gave his consent to the plans for the wedding. Her joy at this welcome news brightened the dull day for him, and as they waited for the loading at the summit they sat by the siding and discussed the arrangements for the festivities with a light-heartedness that had not been theirs of late. She watched him as he oiled the Streak.

Presently they started down with the 12 empty freight-cars. The flurry of snow had increased and now fell in big, damp flakes, which melted as they reached the ground. Wet and shiny in the late afternoon light, the winding rails stretched before them

The train slipped along with a speed that made Sant uneasy. He glanced back and noticed with some relief that the men were busy tightening their brakes.

"Pete," he called above the thunder of the train, "go back an' help 'em. Put the brakes down hard!"

There was a note in the command which caused Jen to glance up quickly. Something she read in his set face confirmed her fear. She saw the darkness and the storm swallow the fireman as he clambered back over the low coal-cars.

"What's the matter?" she cried.

"It's all right, little woman," answered Sant, his hand on the levers, his eye scanning the track ahead.

He turned to the engine again and, cutting off the steam, applied the air-brakes. For a moment they could not realize the truth. Then it broke upon them. The wheels were sliding on the slippery rails. He could not stop the train!

Jen's voice reached him.

"Ain't there no way to slack up?"

"Yes, if we had Pete. But I can't make him hear."

"What d'ye want him for?"

"To poke the sand-box out there. It must be clogged up!"

"Will that save us?"

"Mebbe."

"Who cares?" she cried. "Let's go smashin' down to Kingdom Come together. I ain't been sure o' you somehow. But this way I am sure!"

She clung to him where he stood peering out through the window at the quivering disk which the headlight threw before them. Blurred, indistinct things came flying toward them. Their brains danced with the mad swing of the engine.

Pictures flashed through Sant's mind. He saw the long tangent beyond Culver's Jump, the twisted wood and iron of the last wreck near the track. He saw himself crushed beneath it. And off in New York he saw the wife, who once loved him, rocking their boy to sleep in her arms.

"Molly!" he groaned.

Jen faced him.

"Who's Molly?" she demanded.

The words choked him. Then he whispered hoarsely, "My wife."

"Where is she?"

"In New York."

For a moment a fury seized her. She caught the ferrule from the pocket of his jumper and raised it to strike him while they stood there swaying.

"It'll be hard on the poor kid," he said absently. "He was fond o' me."

The uplifted hand fell and the anger died out of Jen's face. A struggle, brief as it was poignant, swept over her.

"I'll save yer for him!" she cried, and before he realized her intention she climbed out through the little window on her perilous way to the sand-box. The fury of the snow choked and blinded her. The downward plunge of the train brought her to her knees on the running-board and would have flung her off. Madly she clung with bleeding hands to the icy rail that ran along the boiler, and, praying and sobbing, she worked her way on, inch by inch. An eternity seemed to pass before she reached the sand-box. There, still clinging to the rail with one hand, she flung back the lid with the other. Her groping fingers told her that the box was nearly filled with clogged sand. She loosened it with convulsive movements. She waited a moment. Yes, there was a slackening of speed. They were already on the much dreaded tangent, but the sand was sifting down on the wheels and track—the train was under control!

Presently she found herself back in the cab, with Sant bending over her.

"You're a brave little woman," he said.

"I did it for the kid," she answered. "I did it for him!"

Fifteen minutes later the freight sped into the Hollow and stopped at the shabby little station. Sant leaped out and helped a white, nerveless figure down. He laid one hand on her arm timidly.

"Jen, won't yer never forgive me?" he asked.

A sob broke from her.

"I don't know," she answered. "Oh, I don't know!"

And she went off through the storm.

COUNTY TICKET.

The Democracy of Adams county presents to the voters of Adams county a ticket of the very best men of party, men of character and standing and it should be a pleasure to every Democrat and the many friends of these candidates to give them enthusiastic support. Democrats should turn out to the polls for the ticket and work and vote for the whole ticket until the closing of the polls, and make the election of this ticket absolutely certain.

ASSOCIATE JUDGES.

The candidates for Associate Judge are men of unquestioned standing, who have lived good, true, useful lives that have won the respect of all who know them. Hon. W. Howard Dicks is known from one end of the county to the other. Hundreds of citizens become his neighbors every summer by camping on his property along the Conowago. These declare him to be an ideal neighbor, winning them by his many acts of kindness, always ready to do them a favor or serve them. In his township his people knowing his sterling honesty, have placed him again and again over the finances of the township as auditor and he has given the greatest care to this minor but very important office. Every position he has occupied and everything he has been called upon to do has been done conscientiously and with a quiet dignity. Leo Sneeringer has lived a good, quiet, unassuming life in Conowago township. He has never pushed himself forward. He has done the duty of the day, treating his fellowmen squarely. All his neighbors and those who know him best declare that no better man lives in their community. These candidates for the office of Associate Judge have lived lives of self-respect and thereby won the respect of all with whom they have come in contact. They are the kind of citizens to call to the office of Associate Judge, a position to call forth the respect of all citizens because they are worthy to fill the place. Vote and work for Dicks and Sneeringer.

DIRECTOR OF POOR.

Jacob Goodenberger should be elected Director of the Poor and to make his election sure he should have the earnest and devoted support and work of every Democrat and friend. To lose an election gracefully by eleven votes shows the metal of a man and Jacob Goodenberger deserves the best of treatment from the voters this year. There was no personal reason why he did not win out, the campaign made against him was solely on the ground to give a minority representation on the board of directors. That issue can not be put into this campaign for the minority have a representation now that can not be lost at the coming election. The good nature of Jacob Goodenberger was equal to the circumstances of losing by very small figures and has made him a host of new friends. Let these friends and all Democrats work for Goodenberger until the close of the polls and make sure of his election this year and a continued Democratic administration at the Alms House.

JURY COMMISSIONER.

H. S. Reigle, the Democratic candidate for Jury Commissioner, is well and favorably known throughout the county. He has come in contact with many citizens following the occupation of a miller in Highland township, and at his present residence in Bendersville, and all who know him have a good word to say for him. His wide acquaintance gives him the ability a Jury Commissioner needs to choose those who should serve on the juries of the county. His election is sure and that Democracy presents a man such as Mr. Reigle for the position reflects credit on his party so as to call forth every effort to elect the whole ticket.

THE BIG STATE ISSUE.

The one overshadowing State issue of this campaign is the kind of men presented by the Republican and Democratic parties. Sisson and Stober the Republican candidates for Auditor General and State Treasurer were given their nomination because they have been servile tools of the corrupt machine in this State masquerading as Republicans. As members of legislature they supported the jury bill that was expected to protect Quay from trial, they supported the "Pittsburgh ripper" the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional; they supported the press muzzle which a subsequent legislature repealed; they supported the street railway franchise of 1901; they opposed efforts to improve the ballot law. In fact they have stood by the gang in all the legislation that has made Pennsylvania notorious. The question staring every voter in the face is, how can any self-respecting voter give support to candidates who have helped to make this great state a stench in the nostrils. On the other hand the Democratic candidates are men of unquestioned integrity and ability who are receiving the support of the independent voters of the State.

CRACK OF MACHINE WHIP.

One day last week one A. E. Sisson of Erie and one J. A. Stober of Lancaster came unannounced to Gettysburg and their names can be found on the register of the Hotel Gettysburg on Oct. 5. Why did the Republican Candidates for Auditor General and State Treasurer come on the quiet to Adams County. They could not have come to make an appeal to the public or voter in general. They did not come in a way to be called upon to explain legislative careers as the servile tools of a machine. But why did they make this stealthy trip to Gettysburg and other counties. It can have but one meaning. They are carrying orders from the machine and looking for the men in each county to whom they can deliver machine orders to line up Republicans for candidates who have records to repel rather than invite votes. Will the Republicans of this county be lined up at the crack of the machine whip to support Sisson, Stober and Moschizker.

The wedding was very quiet owing to the serious illness of the groom's father. The bride was gowned in a beautiful frock of white satin messaline trimmed with princess lace over white silk, wore a veil and carried bride's roses. A diamond pin, the gift of the groom, was the only jewelry worn. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Plank, who wore a gown of cream pongee trimmed with duchesse lace. The ring ceremony was used. Mr. and Mrs. Shirey went on a wedding trip to Reading, Washington and Southern points and were in Gettysburg on Sunday. They will be at home in Birdsboro after November first.

Wineman of Gettysburg. The wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside at Guernsey, where he is employed in the Guernsey creamery.

Thomas, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Thomas is a draughtsman in the employ of the Pressed Steel Car Co. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will reside on Frisk Ave., in Avalon, one of the Pittsburgh beautiful suburbs.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY FOR PIMPLES.

It is surprising how quickly and easily pimples and black-heads can be cured with the following prescription, which was made known to the public a short time ago by a celebrated specialist on skin diseases, now retired, who used it in a long and successful practice with wonderful results. To use his own words: "There is nothing yet discovered that can compare with it for promptly removing pimples, eczema, black-heads, blotches, red face and noses, and in fact any disease of the skin; it also destroys the germ that causes the disease and makes the cure permanent." Following is the prescription, which can be prepared at any reliable Drug Store at a small cost: Clearola one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces. Mix, shake well and apply night and morning, letting it remain on the face for ten or fifteen minutes then it can be wiped off. Do not use any soap, use instead a little oat meal tied up in a cheese cloth bag.

A Gun Must be Shot

Every Minute

One of our mammoth guns must be shot every minute to supply the call for Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice.

For, last month, these foods were served for seventeen million meals.

We ask you tomorrow to surprise your folks, and have one of them served on your table.

When you see these crisp, gigantic grains, you'll not wonder that people like them.

Puffed Wheat—10c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Unbroken grains, puffed to eight times natural size—made four times as porous as bread.

Grains with every starch granule exploded, so the digestive juices act instantly.

Foods that are good—and good for you. Foods that the children like.

You are missing more than you know while you cling to foods not nearly so enticing as these.

Puffed Rice—15c

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

Three New Prisoners at Jail.

Sheriff Fissel on Monday received as prisoners Robert Wedder, Thomas McAdams and Warren Anderson. They are supposed to have come to Gettysburg from Harrisburg. They were much the worse for liquor on Monday morning and going into alley to the rear of the Presbyterian Church tore off fence pickets of Rev. D. W. Woods and stole two of his chickens which they tried to dispose of. Going into the alley along residence of S. D. Beck they picked up packages from the rear porch until stopped by Miss Ida Monroe who works for Mr. and Mrs. Beck. Charles H. Wilson arrested the trio for larceny of chickens and attempted larceny at the Beck home and the three men after hearing before Squire Hill were held for court.

....OF THE....

PENN'A DUTCH DISHES

THAT WERE MYSTERIES TO THE PALATE OF A NEW YORKER

But are Sufficient to Tickle the Palate of Any Hungry Man, Woman or Child.

"At my first meal at the little Pennsylvania Dutch inn over in Berks county where I happened to be one day last summer," said a New Yorker, "I asked the rosy cheeked, black eyed dining room girl for another baked potato."

"Te bodatiss iss all," said she with a smile and a shake of her head. "All?" said I. "All what?"

"All," said the girl impatiently, and with a suspicion of contempt in her tone. "Te bodatiss iss all."

"A native with the whiskers of a patriarch came to my rescue."

"She means her ham's no more yit allright," said he. "Fer all?"

"Thus I learned that the Pennsylvania Dutch never say that anything is 'gone.' If the bar runs out of beer the beer is 'all.' When the sauerkraut is empty the kraut is 'all.' But there is one thing, at least, that is never 'all.' That is pie. If some thrifty and hearty Dutch citizen should ever ask for pie and then should come back to him that the pie was 'all' the relations between him and his host would at once become strained."

"But I found that the necessity for asking for pie seldom exists, either at tavern or farmhouse. At a Pennsylvania Dutch inn the waiter doesn't disturb your tympanum with: 'Minstrapplepuddin'."

"She fetches in the pie at the proper time and places it before you. Not only pie, but a whole pie; and often not only one whole pie, but three or four whole pies, all of different kinds, and each kind a masterpiece of the pie making art. The black eyed girl with the rosy cheeks who knocked me out by telling me that the potatoes were 'all' placed four uncut pies on the table soon afterward. There was cheese custard, a gooseberry tart, a sweet potato custard, and a suitz pie."

"Suitz is dried apples. Suitz means the cutting of apples into small pieces for drying, and suitz parties, so I learned, were among the social dissipation of the Pennsylvania Dutch girls and boys at apple time. A favorite epicurean delight in rural Pennsylvania Dutchdom is suitz and kuep, a combination of dried apples, fat pork and dumplings, all cooked together. This for supper might not at first thought strike a vegetarian as just the thing to go to bed with if he had set his mind on gentle dalliance with the drowsy god, but it isn't so much of an aid and abettor of nightmare as it would seem, so I was told by those who were brought up to dare it. Yet, so they said, two good sized dishes of it wasn't any too little for one good man to eat, especially if he irrigated it, as is somewhat the wont, with a tumbler or two of last year's cider."

"As to pie again, no matter how many pies there may be on the table, every guest is expected to help himself to each, as his inclination and capacity permit him. There is always enough."

"I learned about some more pleasing Pennsylvania Dutch things while I was in Berks county. Schmiekase has all seasons for its own with them, but it is only in the fall that sauerkraut and lodwaerick get their work in. In the fall, too, metzelsup is on the circuit, and many rise up and clutch it. Then, likewise do rolachizz and pahnhoss make popular appeal."

"Lodwaerick is apples and cider boiled together until there is no more cider left and the apples have become a savory pulp the color of a mahogany bureau. In English the result is called apple butter. Your grocer sells you what bears the brand of apple butter. Maybe that's what it is, but you will never think so again after eating lodwaerick."

"Every well regulated Pennsylvania Dutch farmer kills at least two fat pigs each fall for his own family use. The butchering is a great affair and a neighbor here and there will join in and help. When the hogs are killed, dressed and cut up certain portions are laid aside for those who helped in the killing and for gifts to poor widows in the neighborhood. This is distributed with a liberal hand and is called the metzelsup. The farmer who forgets the metzelsup is looked upon as one for whom perdition yaws."

"If there is a family in Berks county that doesn't put down its barrel of sauerkraut in the fall then that family must have just moved in from some distant part of the country. Every one of the Pennsylvania Dutch counties makes great quantities of sauerkraut every fall, but Berks county claims to put down as much as any three of the others."

"From the middle of October until the same time in November, as my patriarchal friend at the inn table was not backward in informing me, but little else than sauerkraut in the domestic supply occupies the household mind. The housewife at the head of an establishment that requires thousands a year to support it has the same recipe for putting down sauerkraut that her washwoman has and when her kraut is ripe it doesn't smell a bit better for its more aristocratic surroundings."

"Some Pennsylvania Dutch families hire their cabbage cut, but no such pride can be felt by the housewife who doesn't cut her own as she who does cut her own can boast. But though the cabbage for the family kraut may have been hired out the work of making the sauerkraut must be that of the housewife alone, be she in high or humble life. They boast that no family in Berks county transforms less than fifteen heads of cabbage into sauerkraut every fall, and some families would call that 'season' lost whose last descending sun saw less than one hundred cabbage heads converted into sauerkraut for its own use."

"Roalachizz is a liberal combination of tripe and beef built up in consecutive layers of each until it has come to a roll big enough to suit, and then it is mildly pickled and put away for winter use. It is served sliced up thin, cold, and it is good. No Pennsylvania Dutch family fails to make generously of head cheese as one of the popular byproducts of the pig, and in the liquor that comes from the boiling of the pig's head is worked, buckwheat flour and corn meal until it comes to the desired consistency. This cools into a solid mass and is called pahnhoss sliced and fried it is a particularly pleasing morsel to the native palate."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years. The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

DEFEAT AMENDMENT NO. 7 IS URGENT DUTY

Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce Sounds Alarm to Voters.

POINTS OUT STARTLING DANGER

City Gangsters Could Manipulate Election Results, Through Corrupt Election Officers, If the Seventh Amendment Is Adopted.

Defeat of amendment No. 7, of the series of constitutional amendments on which the people of Pennsylvania are to vote this fall, has been called for by the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce.

It is the fear of the Chamber of Commerce that amendment No. 7 will allow political schemers to gain control of city election boards for crooked purposes. Should this particular amendment be adopted, it would open the way for the naming of such boards in the city by appointment instead of by election. That change undoubtedly would serve to make election boards more corrupt and to multiply ballot frauds.

In a public statement the directors of the Chamber of Commerce say:

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg would respectfully call attention to the following matter of vital importance to the citizens of Pennsylvania, and one worthy of the most careful consideration and action by the electors of the state. Among them are the following:

Amendment 7—To Article VIII, Section 14.
Section 14. Amend Section 14 of Article VIII, which reads as follows:—"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service."

So as to read:—"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially by the citizens at the municipal election; but the general assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only; provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service."

This proposed amendment will be submitted to the voters at the election this fall for approval or rejection. If approved, it becomes a part of the state constitution, and must be observed as such, unless eliminated by a future constitutional amendment. Inasmuch as the constitution cannot be amended more than once in five years, this proposed amendment would have considerable time to operate before it could be replaced or superseded by another.

The amendment is surrounded by a multitude of other proposed amendments, which divert the mind from its purpose, and it is only by close reading that its meaning and mischief become clear.

Only forty-eight words seek to change the practice respecting selection of election boards for almost a century, and to destroy the first foundation of the people's political freedom. These words are so obscure and the amendment is sandwiched between others of more or less harmlessness and placed with such cunning in the proposed amendment itself, that only a close reading reveals the true purport of the change.

The proposed amendment first purports to leave the constitution just as it is respecting the selection of election boards. It begins by repeating almost the exact words of the same section of the present constitution, viz:—"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially (instead of annually) by the citizens at the municipal election." A hasty reader would overlook the meaning of what follows, for the last part of the proposed amendment is similar to the paragraph on the same subject of the present constitution. It is as follows:—"But the general assembly may require said board to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only; provided, etc."

It leaves the cities in a worse condition than the country districts, for by its provisions the country districts may be left in full enjoyment of their ancient privileges, while the cities may be deprived of them, or both city and country may be legislated into the merciless hands of the political party in power, either or both at the will of the majority. It is doubtful if such a piece of legislation was ever proposed before to a free and intelligent people.

The Quay statue now occupies a niche in the corridor of the capitol at Harrisburg and stands for corruption in the palace of graft. It is a tribute to vice and a spawn of iniquity. The law authorizing it was forced through the legislature by political incentives. The commission which ordered it was never legally created and the money paid for it was improperly drawn from the treasury. But it may serve a useful purpose. That is to say, as long as it remains in view it will keep in the memory of the people the looting operations which Quay taught and admonish posterity against political piracy.

In his speech before the Bankers Association at Bedford Springs the other day State Treasurer Sheatz cordially endorses the principle expressed in an income tax. In that he is right. But in order to get an income tax it will be necessary to get Mr. Sheatz's party out of power and the Democratic party in. The multi-millionaires who control the Republican party through their campaign contributions don't want to have their vast incomes taxed.

Democrats who fail to qualify themselves to vote will deprive themselves of an opportunity to participate in the celebration of one of the most important Democratic victories of recent years. With J. Wood Clark in the office of Auditor General and George W. Kipp in that of State Treasurer there will be such a cleaning out of the corruption on Capital Hill that the machine will never recover.

We will never have good government in this state until the people make up their minds to punish recreancy. If the crimes of public men are condoned because they belong to this party or that, public men will continue to betray the people to the end of time. The way to secure good government is for all men who favor good government to vote against recreants and for men who are faithful to the people.

George W. Kipp served one term in congress and achieved more in that time than others have been able to in three times the period. He is a man of action. He obeys his conscience and works hard until the purpose in mind is accomplished and then turns his attention to something else. That is the type of men who ought to be commissioned to perform the affairs of the public.

Residents of cities of the third class have one more chance to register. On Saturday, October 16, the registrars will sit at the several polling places, in such cities, and voters may then and there register. Every Democrat residing in a city of the third class should avail himself of the opportunity to qualify himself to vote for our admirable ticket if he has not already done so.

The people of Philadelphia are getting ready to give the machine managers a surprise on election day. Unless the signs are misleading the close of the pole on Tuesday evening, November 2d, will mark the opening of an exodus of political criminals from that city that will purify the political atmosphere of the whole state.

That the Democrats will carry Pennsylvania this year is as certain as any future event depending upon human action can be. The city of Philadelphia will give a majority to all the Democratic candidates, both on the state and local tickets and every county in the state will show a Democratic gain.

Every Democrat can get his own vote to the polls and most Democrats can get one or two of his neighbors or friends to go to the polls and vote the ticket. If every Democrat does his best, therefore, the majority for the ticket this year will be vastly greater than that for William H. Berry four years ago.

Take this from us. There will be no Republican majority in Philadelphia this year and mighty little, if any, in Pittsburg. Both cities are in a state of political revolution, and the result of 1905 will be repeated this year as sure as fate. Get ready to join in the shout ing.

J. Wood Clark, Democratic nominee for Auditor General, is a son of the late Silas M. Clark, who led the Democracy of Pennsylvania as its nominee for justice of the supreme court to victory in 1882 and the son will perform the service this year which his father did then.

The managers of the Democratic campaign this year are more confident and energetic than they have been for a long time. There is victory in the air and it inspires every one to effort.

The record of A. E. Sisson and J. E. Stober show that they are unfit for public office. They have served the machine instead of the people on every occasion.

Pay your taxes in time to vote and vote early so as to have plenty of time to see that your neighbor is not neglecting his duty.

If you have failed to pay taxes this year hunt up your last year's tax receipt and take it with you to the polls.

Get out the vote. A full Democratic vote this year will guarantee a glorious Democratic victory.

JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT

Northern Part of the State and Important Industries Unrepresented.

The geographical inequality in the apportionment of the state on the bench of the supreme court of Pennsylvania is beginning to attract notice and challenge comment. There are seven justices, including the chief justice, on the bench. Of these two live in Philadelphia, one in Lancaster, one in Franklin, one in Fayette, one in Allegheny, and one in Indiana county. All the counties represented on the supreme bench, therefore, are on the southern boundary line of the state except Allegheny and Indiana, and they are separated from the line by narrow strips, one little more than the width of one county and the other by the width of two counties, Westmoreland and Fayette.

Every county can't have a justice of the supreme court, but each group representing distinctive industrial life might. For example, Philadelphia is the commercial center and Allegheny county the manufacturing section. There are commerce and manufactures in other counties, but those two represent those elements essentially. Fayette county shares with Pittsburg in eminence as a soft coal region, and Franklin and Lancaster may be classed as agricultural sections. But there is the anthracite coal region, the oil industry, the lumber industry, the gas producing sections and the vast proportion of the agriculture of the state unrepresented on the bench of the court of last resort.

Probably less than half a dozen lawyers in Philadelphia would know anything about the legal principles involved in litigation concerning anthracite coal measures, disputes about the measurements of timber or questions concerning natural gas. Lawyers, like physicians and educators, have become specialists, and a man who may be a master of corporation law has a very imperfect conception of the legal questions involved in a cause respecting the title to land or the intricacies of a dispute over a transaction in timber. It is not surprising, therefore, that the friends of C. LaRue Munson are giving some attention to this question. He is not only an able lawyer, but one of the all-around kind.

A line drawn from the center of the state east to the center west would cut through Northampton, Carbon, Schuylkill, Northumberland, Snyder, Centre, Clearfield, Indiana, Armstrong and Butler, running the line between Beaver and Lawrence. The greater part of Northampton would be south of the line and most of Carbon north. Only small slices of Schuylkill and Snyder would be north, while most of Centre and Clearfield would be on that side of the line. A very narrow strip of Indiana would be on the upper side of the line and Armstrong and Butler would be cut in the middle. There would be twenty-nine counties south of the line, twenty-eight counties north and ten mutilated.

It is hardly a "square deal" to give the twenty-nine counties south of the line seven justices of the supreme court out of a possible seven. In other words it is hardly fair to give counties on one side of the line all and those on the other none when they are so nearly equal in number. In any event it is not fair to give Philadelphia three out of the seven judges. The Pennsylvania metropolis is a great city, but doesn't measure up to such proportions as to entitle her to that preponderance in influence. If that city had put forward one of her greatest lawyers if she had named a man of the experience and standing of Justice Mitchell, who is about to retire, it might be different.

But the Philadelphia candidate doesn't enjoy that distinction. He has had comparatively little experience at the bar. He served as assistant district attorney during one administration and part of another, and during his incumbency of that office the miscarriage of justice which resulted in the acquittal of Samuel Salter, a self-confessed ballot box stuffer, occurred. Subsequently a prominent member of the Philadelphia machine declared that the district attorney's office was responsible for that mistake. But that doesn't entitle his city to an undue proportion of the supreme court justices any more than it entitled him to the gratitude of the people of Pennsylvania who are averse to ballot box stuffing.

Bad government is bad both for business and morals. While government officials are looting the treasury according to laws made for that purpose, they are robbing the people and setting an example to others to loot. Graft is as reprehensible when protected by law as when it is not thus encouraged, and when high officials graft under invalid laws other people think they have a right to get all they can, lawfully or otherwise. High minded men will not graft, whether the crime is sanctioned by unconstitutional laws or not.

Every Democrat in Pennsylvania ought to give one day during this month to the work of urging all other Democrats to vote on election day and on election day to take sufficient time to vote himself and see that his Democratic neighbor votes.

Whatever else happens on election day, get out the vote. Keep that idea in mind all the time. It will do no harm to dream about it.

Meantime make up your mind to fulfill your civic obligation by voting the Democratic ticket on election day.

Read What Your Druggist Says About Oil of Wintergreen Compound.
 The People's Drug Store submits the following to the readers of the COMPILER:
 For several years we have announced with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

 James Fisher, alias Corbett, a tramp aged about 55 years, was walking on the track of the P. R. R. Co. between the McSherrytown road and Plum creek, Monday of last week accompa-nied by two other tramps, the three under the influence of liquor, when he was struck and instantly killed by the engine of the passenger train which leaves Hanover at 7.20 p. m. for Little-town. The man's skull was crushed and his brains scattered along the track; his left leg was cut off above the ankle and part of his right foot was also severed. Dr. George L. Rice of McSherrytown, who is a justice of the peace, viewed the body, decided that an inquest was unnecessary and that the railroad officials were blameless for the accident. The man was recognized as a professional tramp and many years ago he was a race horse rider with home on Long Island. Interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Hanover.
